

The NZSA Business Journalism Awards are Back!

To all journalists resident in New Zealand

The New Zealand Shareholders Association (NZSA) is pleased to announce that entries for the 2020 NZSA Business Journalism Awards are now open. These awards are open to all journalists, including independents, working in any media who have produced items meeting the NZSA Business Journalism Awards criteria.

The NZSA Business Journalism Awards were established to encourage, identify and applaud outstanding business journalism in New Zealand. Journalists working in New Zealand's print, online and broadcasting media are encouraged to submit entries to three discipline categories.

- News • Feature • Commentary

The NZSA Business Journalist Awards are unique for several reasons:

- Cash prizes for each category.
- Additional cash prize for the Business Journalist of the Year Supreme award.
 - Additional cash prize for the Rising Business Journalist award.
- Three finalists in each category assisted to the Award Dinner in Auckland.
 - Facilitated by, but independent from NZSA – no conflicts.
- Independent of any commercial organisation sponsorship – no conflicts.
 - Independent judging panel.

Editors – make sure your staff are encouraged to enter and gain recognition for their efforts.

Journalists - Make sure to get your entries in and spread the word to your colleagues.
